Career direction

You're a natural Leader with a strong Builder instinct. Your Ambassador qualities mean you bring people along with you, not just results. You're built for roles where you set the direction, grow something, and rally others around a mission. Target roles in general management, business development, entrepreneurship, or team leadership where vision and execution go hand in hand.

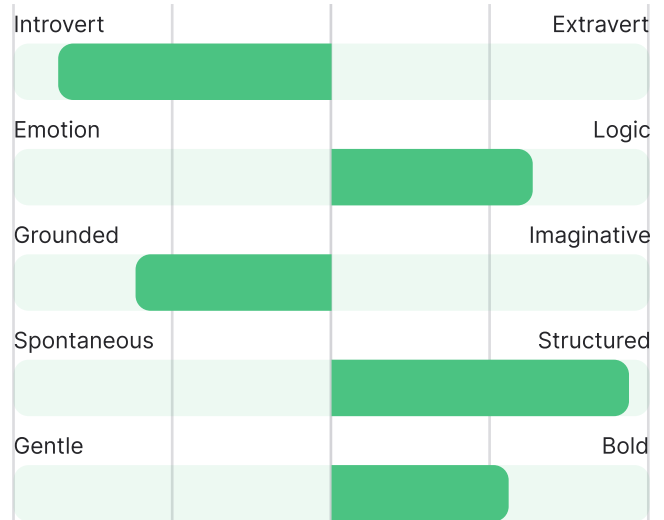

Strengths

Your sharpest cognitive edge is Numbers & calculation, backed by solid Language & words ability. This is a powerful combination – you can build the case in data and then communicate it clearly. Your Awareness & worldview score adds broader context to your analysis. Target roles where financial reasoning meets communication: business analysis, consulting, or operations.

Personality

You're a planner who thinks in logic and acts with structure. Grounded, prepared, and quietly bold – you form clear views and back them with action. You work best in roles with defined objectives where disciplined thinking and follow-through matter more than improvisation.

Roles you'd excel at

Based on your results, these are the careers that align most closely with how you think, work and engage with the world. Each role has been matched based on your unique combination of interests, cognitive strengths and personality.
